

NEW YEAR'S ADDRESS
TO THE PATRONS
OF THE
"ADAMS SENTINEL."

OLD TIME has been winging his noiseless flight
Till another year has vanished in night;
And the world is again in the waiting-gait.
While Uncle Sam rides at a lightning rate—
For he travels by steam on the Enterprise track—
"Go ahead," is his motto, "and never look back."

John Bull blusters still as in days of yore,
And twirls his staff as he's done before;
But his brow is marked with wrinkles of care,
And he has that now in his walk and air,
Like a hen-pecked half, whose comfort is gone,
And his champion of walloo wholly drawn,
In his household quiet had been disturbed,
And his haughty rule will ere long be curbed;
For his valiant sons have grown restive now,
Nor quail they beneath his darkening brow;
Ere & Bouria, clothed with manhood's might,
Will be bold, ere long, for their proud birth-right;
Yet right well does John Bull love to lord it still,
Tho' his beard is gray, & his voice grown shrill.
And he vents his spleen on his neighbors round—
No such grating old churl can earth be found.
To the Chinese see, he dashed over in a twinkling,
And round from his slumbers old Rip Van Winkle
Who was taking a century's quiet snooze—
A German Catholicism to cure the blues.
John Bull at his door, with the cannon's knock,
And has left him no bolt, nor bar, nor lock.
Van Winkle waked up to find he'd been snoring,
While the age of improvement was onward roaring.
And to go around him on strange, strange faces,
Shrewd Yankees with nutmegs, and Frenchmen
with laces;
And Rip draws a sigh, and heaves a sigh,
And he feels he could lay him down and die.

Now cast we a glance o'er this vast conglomera-tion,
And scan with the mind's eye each country and nation.
See crowding the bond, free, polished & rude—
All differing in speech, dress, manners and food.
Yet the Iceland loves his polar snow,
And the Southron the Torrid's fiery glow,
And we dwellers here, in the Temperate zone,
Know no other clime so dear as our own.
The islander sings of his islet green—
And the sailor loves his broad ocean's sheen.
And the landman dreams of sweet comfort here,
While the main is to him but a desert drear.
So content is man in his every clime,
And life glides on like my flowing rhyme.
And various, too, as its varied endings,
Are life's various woes with their varied blendings.
But there is no clime more sacred on earth,
Than our New World, hallowed by Freedom's birth.
The soil that is freely and nobly won,
By man free as he came from his Maker God;
Where a nation utters in unison's might,
And mind flows in glows and truth's light daylight;
Where justice and mercy have blessed each other,
And the poorman and rich is hailed as brother;
Where law is the crown of a people's glory,
And the triumph of right the theme of its story.

O! A broad and a glorious land is ours,
From the main where Commerce its tribute pours.
To the halcyon shores of broad Oregon,
Which the south light of our setting sun
Yes! Westward, the Star of Empire glows, O'er boundless prairies and mountain snows,
To be ever fixed in the Occident,
Where the anxious gaze of millions is bent.
For there, rich there, an Empire's light,
To crown the triumph of truth and right.
My country—shrink not from England's shade—
But brave the rush of the "whirling tide,"
That power would sweep o'er our rightful soil,
Guard the boon of the patriot's blood and toil.
But come we now to domestic themes,
Nor longer revel in bright day-dreams,
For shadows of Fate have our sky pierced,
And fierce storm-blows beat our gallant mast;
And the pilot whose State's ship should guide,
Hath a hand too weak to buffet the tide.
For the brave old helmsman hath been swept o'er,
And his pure soul borne to a brighter shore.
Then peace to his dust, and a dirge for his rest—
It is better to die when so mourned and blest!
But a clear bold eye should scan Fate's sea,
And an iron nerve at that rudder should be;
For Freedom's hopes does that brave ship bear,
And would it be did it founder there.
And shame would it be, if a dastard hand
Should wreck that crew on Oblivion's strand!
But a bow of promise o'er spans our sky,
And tells of a happy deliverance night.
No! there's a brave old tar amid our crew,
Who has climbed the mast when black tempests blew.

And whose dauntless eye, like the western star,
Has brightly gleamed o'er that sea afar;
And his strong voice wailed of the storm-god's wrath.
When its winds were abroad on its darkling path,
And he now cheers us on to a brighter day,
And that glorious old mariner is HARRY CLAY,
With a lip that never quails, and an eye of blue,
And a hand and nerve that as steel are true;
And a tongue whose echoes are eloquent,
Where wisdom and sweetness are calmly blent.
And a brow where cluster the hosts of thought,
That genius & fame to that shrine have brought.
Patrons! grant the gift that for thee I pray—
Heaven grant thee a helmsman in HENRY CLAY.

Our noble State claims a voluntary its burdens and taxes, and "promise to pay."
Alas! it ill suits our jovial metre—
This unending game of "rob Paul to pay Peter!"
And shame should o'erwhelm each citizen's face,
That our lov'd land of Penn is so bow'd in disgrace.
That laws should be bought, and bribery reign,
And rulers be gorged with their base-bought gain!
Purge these Augean stalls of their reeking pollution;
Cleanse our Government halls with a perfect abstention.
Let the State be now ruled by the pure and the true.
And our sky will assume hope's heavenly blue, While peace and prosperity smile through our vales.
And the glad notes of freedom shall load our pure gales;
And the green olive-bough planted here by our Penn.

Adieu, now kind Patrons! Health! peace! & joy!
Is the heart-wish of your "Carry Boy."
As he chafes off his cap and proffers his Rhyme,
A merry chronicle of gruff Old Time!
He has told his tale in a simple lay,
A long for the year that has passed away.
O! there's a glee in his eye, and mirth on his lip—There's music for him in each quarter and rattle.

Like childhood's laugh to a toothless crone,
Or (save the trope) to a dog, a bone!
For no sound has broken his pocket's rest.
An echoless void, by a copper-unblest—
The philosopher's quest—a vacuum!
Perfectly strap as a recruiter's drum!
After then, again our parting day is done—
'T would be unphilosophical to forget Number One!

PETER ADOLPHUS
TYPE FOUNDRY.

Greatly Reduced Prices!
JOHNSON, [successor to JOHNSON & SMITH] in announcing to his Friends and Printers generally, that he has purchased the interest of his late partner in the Foundry, desires to inform them that he has recently made large additions to his assortment of Book Job and Ornamental Letter, and that he will continue to add every description of Type which the improvement in the art may suggest and that the wants of the trade may require. His assortment compre-sents a greater variety than any other Foundry in the United States, and he has reduced his prices nearly 20 per cent. lower than heretofore.
Printing Presses, Chases, Cases, Printing inks, and every article used in a Printing Office, constantly on hand. Estimates will be furnished in detail for Book, Newspaper and Job Offices, on stating the style and quantity of work to be done, and Specimen Books will be forwarded to persons desirous of making out orders.

Cough Lozenges.
THESE Lozenges are a judicious combination of our most valuable expectorant, diaphoretic, demulcent, anodyne and laxative remedies, which have long been in daily use by our best physicians, in the cure of Coughs, Colds, Asthma, etc. but which have generally been given in the form of powders, syrups or tinctures.
They are not offered to the public as a new discovery, but as an old and well-established remedy in a more convenient and pleasant form. Price 25 cents.

GENUINE ORIGINAL
Nerve and Bone Liniment.
THE use of this penetrating fluid has been attended with unparalleled success in all the disorders of horses, which require an external application, such as sprains, chafes or galls, cuts, sprains, hives in the eye, scalds, cracked heels, strains of the shoulders, stifles, hough, knee, whirl, bone, fetlock, and of the pastern and coffin joints, &c. &c. The Nerve and Bone Liniment was at first only intended for the Disease of Horses, its superior efficacy in the cure of their disorders has occasioned its use for some of the ills humanity is heir to,
such as Burns, scalds, weakness or stiffness of the joints, swelling of the Glands of the Throat, Inflammatory rheumatism, etc.

JEW DAVID'S OR Hebrew Plaster.
This recipe, obtained of an old Jew, by a traveller in the Eastern countries, bids fair to be of immense value to the Western world. Since this Plaster has been introduced into America, every other plaster, salve, ointment, or liniment has been discontinued by all who have had an opportunity of testing the superior medical virtues of the Jew David's or Hebrew Plaster. Truth, though simple, is powerful, and will prevail with an enlightened community, over all the puff-ings and fictitious affidavits with which the world is flooded. The sterling worth of this plaster is appreciated, and its use sanctioned by the highest classes of society. One singular instance of its efficacy arises from the thousands who have used it, which shows that when a remedy possesses highly intrinsic merits like this, it does not fail of receiving the patronage of the intelligent community. For sale by Persian Pills.

It is now a settled point with all who have used the Vegetable Persian Pills, that they are pre-eminently the best and most efficacious Family medicine that has yet been used in America. If every family could become acquainted with their sovereign power over disease, they would keep them and be prepared with a sure remedy to apply on the first appearance of disease, and then how much distress would be avoided and money saved, as well as lives of thousands who are harried out of time by neglecting disease in its first stages, or by not being in possession of a remedy which they can place dependence on. All who wish to guard against sickness, should use the Persian Pills freely, when needed; no injury can ensue, if used from youth to old age, when taken according to the directions. Price 50 cents, small boxes 25 cents. For sale by

B. A. FAHNESTOCK'S
Anti-Bilious Pills.
THIS Cathartic compound combines smallness of bulk with efficiency, and comparative mildness of purgative action, and having a peculiar tendency to the bilious organs, is extremely valuable in this country, in which bilious fevers and other complaints attended with congestion of the liver so much abound. They have now been in use 16 years, and experience has proved them to be a valuable and efficient remedy in all complaints in which a cathartic is needed.
They are especially adapted for a family Cathartic, and for this purpose are not surpassed by any other pill in use. Price 25 cents for a box containing 30 Pills.

WATERVILLE, N. Y. Sept. 15, 1843.
DRA SIB—(love it to the afflicted to inform you that in January last I was attacked by a very violent cold, caused by working in the water, which settled on my lungs. It was accompanied by a very severe pain in my breast and sides, and also a distressing cough. I had in attendance all the best medical aid in my village. But after exhausting their skill to no avail, they pronounced my disease a confirmed consumption; and they one and all gave me up to die. After much persuasion, I got me up to the consent of my Physician to use the Balsam of Wild Cherry, prepared by Dr. Wistar.
I purchased of the Agent in our place one bottle, before using half of which I began to gain strength, and it was very evident my cough was better and my symptoms every way improving. I have now used three bottles, and am restored to perfect health—
This result is alone owing to the use of Dr.
Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, and I take this method of giving you the information, partly to pay the debt of gratitude I owe you,
and partly that others similarly afflicted may know where to apply for relief.
Very truly yours,
JAMES SAGE.
Mr. PALMER, Drugist, under date of Waterville, Sept. 24, 1843, writes—The statement given you by Mr. James Sage is well known to be true by the whole community.
The sale of the Balsam is very good, and success is constantly flattering.
Yours, respectfully,
D. D. PALMER.
Let the afflicted call and see our certificates. They prove conclusively that they can be cured if they get the right medicine.
We cure and get "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry." Beware of imitations.
